EFFECT: Frances Haddon Morgan Center is no longer closed on a specific date. Instead, admissions are frozen and the facility will be closed when there are no longer any permanent residents living in it. Yakima Valley School will cease operations when there are no residents living there. The state-operated living alternatives created on the campus of Frances Haddon Morgan and Yakima Valley School must be licensed as Intermediate Care Facilities for the Mentally Retarded and must provide active treatment. The legislative task force must include in its review topics the development of strategies for reframing the mission of Frances Haddon Morgan Center.
